TERRIBLE AND TRAGIC.

Night Watchman Meets Most Dreadful Fate.

SKULL CRUSHED LIKE EGG

While Man Named Zellner, Employed by the Dallas Gas Company, Was on Duty, He Was Foully Murdered and His Pockets Rifled.

Dallas, Sept. 5.—With his skull eaved in at the forehead as if it had been but an eggshell the body of M. H. Zellner was found at 7 o'clock Thursday morning near the corner of Fitzhugh street and Ross avenue, in the extreme eastern part of the city. One of the pockets of his pants had been turned inside out as if rifled, while the other had been cut open with a sharp bladed instrument and its contents taken. Near the corpse were two pieces of 2x4 wood, with blood on each, indicating the instruments of death.

Zellner, who was fifty-four years of age, was an employee of the Dallas Gas company in the capacity of watchman. The company is putting in a main near where the body was found and the dead man was on duty Wednesday night to see that nothing was stolen or tampered with. One of his duties was to see that lanterns over dangerous spots were not purloined.

Deceased apparently was lying on a pallet made of cement sacks when killed, as his body was found there. It was a terrible sight as Zellner lay with upturned face, staring eyes and blood oozing from his wounds.

An hour after the atrocious crime was known Chief of Police Brandenburg arrested three Mexicans. They had been at work at the place for the company, but failed to show up at the usual hour for labor Thursday.

SIX HOUSES BURN.

Dallas Was Without Water For Number of Hours.

Dallas, Sept. 5.—By a break in the principal water main of the Dallas waterworks, which occurred Wednesday afternoon and was not repaired until 11 o'clock Thursday morning, this city was placed in an alarming dilemma. No water could be secured during that time, and as there was no warning of the mishap nearly every residence was without the necessary fluid. Wells were brought into requisition and thousands of buckets of water were carried by householders.

Two fires happened Thursday morning. The first was a two-story residence in the northern part of the city. It was consumed. Fortunately, the structure was isolated; otherwise, all adjacent property could not have been saved.

Shortly before 6 o'clock fire broke out near the southeast corner of Live Oak and Olive streets. The flames totally destroyed the five houses from the corner of Olive on Live Oak to Pearl and one on Olive. Had there been an east wind several large boarding houses on Live Oak street between Olive and Pacific avenue would have been the flames' prey. It is probable the fire would have leaped over Pacific avenue and involved Elm street, taking in the Wilson building and other valuable property. As it was, there was hardly any breeze, so the fire confined itself to the block in which it originated.

Losses foot up $13,500, with about half insurance.

TO INSTITUTE SUIT.

Attorney General Is So Instructed by the Railroad Commission.

Austin, Sept. 5.—The railroad commission issued order directing attorney general to institute suit for penalties against the Galveston, Harrisburg and San Antonio railway for alleged violation of commission's order of Oct. 27, 1906, requiring the railroad to operate double daily passenger service between Del Rio and El Paso. The commission claims that without obtaining its approval the railroad company discontinued the operation of such double daily passenger service. The commission directs that the suit be filed in the district court at Victoria.

The governor appointed the following board of penal examiners: J. H. Grant, Palestine; Sam G. Duff, Greenville, and C. M. McCauley, Merkel.

NOTHING TO IT.

Waters-Pierce Oil Company Not Sold to the Texas Company.

Sherman, Tex., Sept. 5.—Receiver Dorchester and General Manager Stanley of the Waters-Pierce Oil company denies a report emanating at Beaumont that the Waters-Pierce Oil company has been sold to the Texas company. Both gentlemen are emphatic in their denial.

Scalped to Death.

San Antonio, Sept. 5.—In a wreck on the Kerrville branch of the San Antonio and Aransas Pass, west of San Antonio, Engineer Charles H. Snell was scalped to death, and Fireman J. A. Hamilton was seriously scalped and his collar bone broken.

COMPANY CONFESSES.

International Harvester Concern Admits a Trust.

FINED AND MUST GET OUT

Penalty Is Assessed at Thirty-Five Thousand Dollars and Permit to Any Longer Do Business In the State of Texas to Be Revoked.

Austin, Sept. 5.—In the case of Texas vs. the International Harvester Company of America a plea of guilty was entered and the state secured a judgment for $35,000 in penalties and a forfeiture of the concern's Texas permit, ousting it from the state. The most sweeping injunction was granted, enjoining the defendant forever from doing any further business in Texas except an interstate business; from entering into any exclusive contract with any person, firm or corporation in the state for the sale of its goods in Texas whereby any one concern would have the right to handle the goods exclusively, and is perpetually enjoined from organizing any other corporation to do business in the state or from acquiring or retaining any stock or interest, either directly or indirectly, in any corporation, firm or association of persons to do business in the state of Texas.

HAMP COOK BUSY.

Telling Eastern People What a Great State Texas Is.

Houston, Sept. 5.—Word was received here from Colonel Hamp Cook, the veteran Texas newspaper man, who was some months ago presented with a purse of $1,000 by the business men of Houston, indicating that he is putting in some good hard licks for Texas in New York and other cities of the east.

It is a well known fact that no one can get the best of Colonel Cook in an argument over Texas, and since his departure on his vacation he has fought many wordy battles, emerging from each in triumph, ready for the fray again when the next opportunity is offered.

Incidentally he has done a great deal to diminish the supply of literature, medallions and buttons in the Five Million club office, but these have been sent him without regret, knowing his capacity for "boosting."

How long Colonel Cook will remain away from the land of his youth is not known, but one thing is sure—as long as he stays, just so long will the great state of Texas have an able representative abroad.

ROLLS DOWN BANK.

Twenty-Three Persons Injured In Train Accident.

Vernon, Tex., Sept. 5.—A train on the Fort Worth and Denver railway was wrecked at Tolbert, a small station between here and Chillicothe. The rear trucks of the last car became detached, turning crosswise, and caused the car to break loose. It was overturned and rolled down a ten-foot embankment. It was a Pullman car. There was great excitement on the train. Twenty-three persons were hurt, some seriously, but none killed.

FREELS' FRIGHTFUL FATE.

Denison Fireman Caught by Falling Wall and Crushed to Death.

Denison, Sept. 5.—The Lone Star laundry was destroyed by fire. Bud Freels, a minute man connected with the fire department, was caught under a falling wall and crushed to death. Another minute man, Alfred L. Smith, was slightly injured by the falling of the same wall.

After the fire was under control Freels and Smith were on the west side of the building playing a stream of water on the embers when, without warning, the wall crumbled and fell both ways. Freels was on the inside of the wall and was buried underneath the debris. The body was found under the pile of bricks after a search of half an hour by the other firemen. Freels was a single man.

The property loss is about $20,000.

LOSES MUCH COIN.

Thousands Dollars in Twenty-Dollar Gold Pieces Taken From Trunk.

Marshall, Tex., Sept. 5.—One thousand dollars in $20 gold pieces has been taken from the residence of Charles Blalock, who resides four miles south of Hallsville, in the western part of this county.

Mr. Blalock is eighty-four years of age, and the oldest resident of Harrison county, having settled here sixty-two years ago. He kept most of his money in a trunk, and the gold was taken therefrom by some person unknown to the authorities.

County Goes Dry.

Charlotte, N. C., Sept. 5.—Anson county went dry by over 300 majorities.

BRYAN, TEXAS, SEPT 6, 1907

The International Harvester Company has accepted judgment of ouster from Texas and agreed to pay a fine of $35,000.

The cow, the hog and the hen are a combination that cannot be beaten, and Brazos county is the natural home for all of the trio.

The late failure of Wall street to scare the country has proven that the time has passed when a few financiers could bring a "panic" at will.

The first annual exhibition of the Falls County Fair and Racing Association opened at Marlin Wednesday. The attendance was good and the exhibits were creditable.

It is announced that Hell's Half Acre in Ft. Worth is to be cleaned out, so if you smell anything peculiarly offensive don't attribute it to Eagle Pass onions or the sulphur spring at Lampasas.

The hardware merchants association is raising a fund to fight the pistol tax. The people of Texas believe that pistol toting is inexcusable and immoral, and if the fifty per cent tax law fails there is likely to be a demand for more drastic legislation, even to the extent of making pistol selling a felony, as it is in several states.

The demand for civil engineering graduates from the college continues to exceed the supply. Of the twenty graduates and three post-graduates who finished their work here last June, all are engaged in civil engineering work at salaries ranging from $125 per month down to $50 and $60. Many of the undergraduates have also been engaged in engineering work during the summer, but there are still numerous requests for men now on file in the department, but there is not an available man for any of the places.

A prominent educator of the South said in a lecture delivered a few weeks ago that the democracy of the public school is the finest training for a child that our country affords. He emphasized this idea by affirming that if he had the wealth of a Carnegie and could buy the services of the best instructors the country affords, a child under his care should not be deprived of a public school education.

The majority of the people in Texas are heartily in favor of 2-cent railroad fare but such a law would operate to retard the development of the lines already built in Texas and would put a quietus on the construction of new lines. Texas is not ates, and for his undergraduates summer work as is best suited to their training. The special summer work, however, could not be given this season on account of the failure of the fruit crop of the state. A few students worked for Mr. J. S. Kert, manager of the Texas Nursery Company at Sherman. Two were employed by a large Arkansas fruit company to superintend the picking and packing of fruit. This company was well pleased with the work of the boys that it has already arranged with them to prune its entire orchard this winter. If the fruit crop is good next season, twenty-five or thirty students will do summer work. They will be employed in some of the largest orchards in Texas until about the 20th of July, and then they will go to Arkansas and Missouri. After the crop is harvested in these states, the workers will divide, some going to Colorado and others to New York to remain until school opens in the fall. Such work, besides being remunerative, affords invaluable experience to the students. A large fruit company in Arkansas is desirous of making a contract to have the entire crop from three hundred acres gathered every season by A. and M. students.

The demand for civil engineering graduates from the college continues to exceed the supply. Of the twenty graduates and three post-graduates who finished their work here last June, all are engaged in civil engineering work at salaries ranging from $125 per month down to $50 and $60. Many of the undergraduates have also been engaged in engineering work during the summer, but there are still numerous requests for men now on file in the department, but there is not an available man for any of the places.

The introduction of agriculture as a subject of instruction in the public schools is greatly increasing the demand for the services of graduates of the Agricultural and Mechanical College. The numerous requests that are constantly coming in for teachers of agriculture can not be complied with by the college authorities, because the supply of available men has long since been exhausted. Every graduate in the horticultural department of last year's class already has a good position, the average salary of the members of the class being $1,200 a year. Prof. Kyle is a very enthusiastic worker and takes great pride in securing good positions for his gradu-

H. & T. C. OFFICIALS HERE.

Representatives of the Traffic and Operating Departments Visited the Local Compress Yesterday.

A party of Houston & Texas Central railroad officials of the traffic and operating departments passed through the city yesterday on a northbound special train, and spent a half hour at the Bryan compress in consultation with Manager W. Wipprecht. They are making a trip over the entire line to consult with the compress people with reference to loading cars in such a way as to secure the greatest tonnage, and especially to facilitate the handling of mixed lots at the seaboard in Galveston. Mr. Sheehan said they were finding the compress people willing to meet them more than half way in the matter. He took occasion to compliment the management of the local compress on having uniformly handled cotton to the best advantage.

The members of the visiting party are General Superintendent G. Radetsky, Division Superintendent M. Sheehan, General Freight Agent J. A. Christian, A. A. Martin, assistant, and E. R. Nichols agent at Galveston. Agent W. S. Wilson of this city made the rounds with the party.

SNAKES ROUT CHOPPERS.

Men Cannot Be Induced to Load Thousands of Crosses.

Meriden, Conn., Sept. 5.—Woodchoppers employed by A. R. Johnson, who has a portable sawmill in Dark Hollow, a wild section of the town of Glastonbury, quit work for fear of rattlesnakes. Several thousand railroad ties are piled up in the woods ready for shipment, but Johnson cannot get men to load them.

For some time non-poisonous snakes have appeared in large numbers as a result of the drought, but it was not until this week that the rattle snakes were seen.

After several exciting encounters with the reptiles the woodchoppers left the hollow.

BARBER MISUNDERSTOOD.

Thought Customer, Who Slumbered.
Wanted Whiskers Cut Off.

Parksville, N. Y., Sept. 5.—George Palmer, a wealthy farmer residing near here, has brought suit for $2,000 damages in the supreme court against John H. Reisler, a barber of New York City. Palmer's grievance is that his beard, of which he was quite proud, was cut off by one of Reisler's employees.

Palmer fell asleep in the barber's chair, he says, after having told the man simply to trim his whiskers, but the barber sheared off all the whiskers and shaved his face. The application of a wet towel on Palmer's face awoke him, and when he realized that his beard was gone he sought a lawyer and had suit brought at once.

TWO ARRESTS MADE.

One Young Man Alleged to Be Principal, Another Accesory.

Ardmore, Sept. 5.—In connection with the shooting of Miss Bobbie Weir, the eighteen-year-old girl who was discovered in a dying condition by neighbors, and who expired shortly after being shot, Federal officials have placed under arrest Bert Joiner, son of a prominent citizen of Ardmore, who is being held on a charge of murder, and Lawrence Musgraves, a companion of Joiner, who, it is alleged, was near the scene of the tragedy. The latter is charged with being an accessory.

HORSE KILLS CHILD.

Child Thrown, Dragged One Hundred Yards and Trampled.

Beaumont, Sept. 5.—Ollie Ferringer, the ten-year-old daughter of Gerhard Ferringer, was the victim of a terrible accident. The child was thrown from the back of a horse, dragged nearly 100 yards by the reins, and horribly trampled and kicked by the horse, and died shortly after being taken to the Sisters' hospital.

CHARLES BROWN DEAD.

Veteran of Two Wars and Inventor of Bell Buoy.

Memphis, Sept. 5.—Charles Brown, a veteran of the Mexican and civil wars, and the inventor of the Bell buoy, as now used in American ports, died here, aged eighty years. He served during the 60s under Admirals Farragut and Porter, and was commended and promoted for gallantry in action.

PRAYER FOR SCHOOLS.

Churches All Over America Will Do This on Sunday Next.

New York, Sept. 5.—Next Sunday is to be observed by churches throughout the country as a day of special prayer for the public schools. The plan was suggested by the National Reform association, and has been endorsed by the Presbyterian general assembly and other church conventions.

The fall term of the public schools begins on the day following in New York and many other parts of the country.

Heart Strength

Heart Strength, or Heart Weakness, means Nerve Strength, or Nerve Weakness—nothing more. Positively, not one weak heart in a hundred is, in itself, actually diseased. It is almost always a hidden tiny little nerve that really is at fault. This obscure nerve—the Cardiac, or Heart Nerve—sets the heart and mind in motion, more powerful, more controlling, more governing strength. Without that the Heart must continue to fail, and the stomach and kidneys also have these same controlling nerves.

This clearly explains why, as a medicine, Dr. Shoop's Restorative has in its place done so much for the failing heart. Dr. Shoop first sought the cause of all this painful, palpitating, suffocating heart distress. Dr. Shoop's Restorative—this popular prescription—is alone directed to these weak and wasting nerve centers. It builds; it strengthens; it offers real, genuine heart help.

If you want strong hearts, strong digestion, strengthen those nerves—re-establish them as needed, with:

Indigestion

Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not itself a true disease. We think of Dyspepsia, Heartburn, and Indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of certain specific Nerve sicknesses.

It was a fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop in the creation of that now very popular Stomach Remedy—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Going direct to the stomach nerves, alone brought that success and favor to Dr. Shoop and his Restorative. Without its original and highly vital principle, no such lasting remedy could ever hope to be had.

For stomach distress, bloating, biliousness, acid breath and sallow complexion, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—and see for yourself what it can and will do. We sell and cheerfully recommend.

on Colds.

"Just to prove merit—to show you how quickly Preventics can and will check colds or the Grippe—I will mail you free on request these samples and my book. Simply address—Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis."

To check early Colds or Grippe with "Preventics" means sure defeat for Pneumonia. To stop a cold with Preventics is surely safer than to let it run and be obliged to cure it afterward. Preventics will however teach a deeply seated cold. But taken early—at the sneeze stage—they break or lead off these early colds. That is surely better—that is why they are named "Preventics." Promptness, however, is all-important. Promptness in the use of Preventics may save half your usual sickness. Everlasting, night or day, with child or adult, suggests the need of Preventics.

Write Dr. Shoop, Racine Wis., today for samples and booklet. Preventics are sold by GRAHAM GONE.

Dispatch Bearer and Courier to General Sheridan.

Chester, Pa., Sept. 5.—Monroe Graham, who was a dispatch bearer and courier in the civil war, and who rode with General Sheridan during his famous ride of twenty miles from Winchester, died at his home in Village Green.

Mr. Graham frequently gave at Grand Army gatherings a version of the part he played when he acted in the capacity of dispatch bearer. The troops, he said, were stationed twenty miles from Winchester, at which place Sheridan was in conference with other army officers as to his future plans. An attack occurred, and Sheridan was needed at the front. Graham volunteered to ride to Sheridan and return with him while the battle was in progress. Graham started on his ride to notify Sheridan, and before he reached him the cannonading could be heard.

"Quick!" shouted Graham as he handed the dispatch to General Sheridan, who was taken by surprise at the sudden appearance of the courier. Notwithstanding the fact that an important consultation was being held, Sheridan immediately mounted his famous black horse and, accompanied by Graham, proceeded on his ride.

Graham was at the side of General Sheridan until the troops were reached.

TO BUILD HOME.

National Association of Letter Carriers May Do This.

Canton, O., Sept. 5.—The National Association of Letter Carriers convened here in the sixteenth annual session, all sections of the country being represented among the delegates present. Officials report a present membership of 26,740, an increase in the last year of 3,220. Among the important matters to be considered is the building of a home for aged and incapacitated letter carriers at Colorado Springs, Colo.

A pension system will also be devised for retiring carriers with a sufficient income to support them in their declining years after they have been turned adrift by the government on account of ill health or old age. It is also proposed to raise the sick benefit to $10 per week.

First Assistant Postmaster General Hitchcock, who is a great favorite among the letter carriers, will deliver the principal address.

"If This Shooting Game Is a Success, Then to the Funeral."

Pittsburg, Sept. 5.—A remarkable will was filed for probate here. It was in the form of a letter written by John Kelly, a tombstone maker, who, on Aug. 1, killed himself. He left a letter to his relatives which starts thus:

"If this shooting game is a success, then to the funeral. Flannery is a good undertaker. Proceedings as ordinary."

Kelly then divides an estate valued at $2,500 among his stepmother, brothers and sisters. The whole of the letter was filed as his will.

Duke was arrested in Confederate park Sunday night by Patrolmen Bruner and Holt on charges of drunkenness and disorderly conduct.

DEED DONE DRUNK.

While Intoxicated Baltimore Boy Beats His Mother.

Baltimore, Sept. 5.—How a helpless woman—scarcely out of a hospital where she was an invalid for two weeks—was beaten by her eldest son is the story told on the terse record of the Western police station. Elmer Jones, as talwart youth of nineteen years, is locked up, charged with having beaten his mother, Mrs. Mary A. Jones.

That the delicate woman was saved from worse treatment by the son she was ready to forgive while the sting of the blows was still on her face and arms is due to the interference of Captain George Henry, who happened to be passing the Jones house, 125 Pearl street. Hearing a woman's scream, he rushed into the house, and says he found the mother at the mercy of her son. The youth desisted when he saw the captain, who arrested him.

The assault is the outcome of a series of persecutions which the mother alleges have followed her. With a bare pittance, received as a weekly alimony from her husband, she declares that she has had to make every effort to keep from starvation. By taking boarders she has managed to support herself and two children, the oldest child, Elmer, who is under arrest, supporting himself as a fish huckster.

For awhile, she declared, the youth contributed generously to the support of the family, but afterward fell into evil habits and remained away from home for five weeks. Several days ago he returned, in her absence, she asserts, and took the clock from the parlor, which was afterwards recovered from a pawn shop.

From youths who live in the neighborhood she heard that he had been living at 607 West Lexington street. While at home, with her two babies, Elmer came to the home. Angry, at first, she ordered him to leave. He refused, and, it is alleged, deaf to her pleadings for her children, seized her by the throat and beat her.

When he was taken from the home by Captain Henry the mother's love asserted itself.

"William is a good boy," she said, "if he would only leave drink and bad companions alone. I don't think he knew what he was doing," she sobbed, instinctively pressing her younger infant closer to her breast.

LONDON'S EAST SIDE.

Fearful Picture of Poverty and Dissipation.

A SATURDAY NIGHT SCENE.

The Awful Spectacle That a Bitterly Cold Evening In Winter Disclosed to the Wayfarer In the Streets—The Hucksters and Their Customers.

Let me show you something which is more terrible than tragedy and more hideous than vice. It is a close wedged procession of thousands of happy but shabby men and women and children passing at a crawl between shop windows and costermongers' barrows on a Saturday night in winter in southeast London. The wind from the Thames blows hither and thither the flames and naphtha lamps and makes them tug and hiss at the greasy burners. It is bitterly cold. Women draw their gray shawls closer over their heads; men turn up their coat collars, hump their shoulders and thrust their hands deeper in their pockets, and the blue faced children, squeezed between the legs of the crawling multitude, shiver and snuffle as they creep so slowly forward with chattering teeth and purple lips, which twitch and shudder, half from cold and half from hunger.

Look at some of the faces. The women have their hair dragged back from their foreheads. The eyes are hardly visible. The noses are short and broad. The blubber lips reach across their swollen faces. The men have shifty eyes. Their underjaws project. There is nothing in their faces which suggests dignity or kindness. On all the races you read satisfaction and content. Even the starving children peep about with excitement.

On the top rail of a stall, stuck upon hooks and just high enough to grin above the multitude, are the heads of two sucking pigs. The eyes are half open and wear a glassy smile. Round the rim of the ears and at the edge of the open grinning lips is a line of blood. They seem to hang there like the presiding deities of the market, the gods of this sordid fair.

Butchers stand before their open windows, calling loudly and briskly for customers and reaching down joints of meat from steel hooks, which they fling to a man inside to be weighed. Children, bareheaded and in rags, thrust themselves among the crowd, offering beet roots on pieces of dirty newspaper. The street is filled with cries. There is a smell of fish and fusty garments. Into our faces as we go forward foul, fat women with hoarse voices shove handfuls of animal matter—things all bloody and dreadful—and tell us that the cost is only two pence. At another barrow an old woman and her three daughters are selling for pennies, twopences, threepences and fourpences the loathsome oddments from their rag shop. Blouses, stays, petticoats, nightdresses, trousers, waistcoats and caps—all of them so sodden and musty that we doubt if they would burn—are snatched up from the wide stall, flourished in the light of the naphtha lamps and flung across to the highest bidder for a few coppers.

And while this marketing is going on and while the air is filled with the hoarse shouts of the hucksters, out from the public houses, like bees dislodged from a swarm, drop men and women, many of them carrying babies in their arms, and slouch away into the darkness of some neighboring court. The gin shops are crammed—crammed with men, women and children. The more careful housewives are fingerling bits of meat scarce fit for dogs and haunting the stalls till they have collected enough for Sunday's dinner, but when this is done they, too, fight their way into the gin shops and drink till closing time. In and out of the pawnbrokers' shops pass the modishers who wish to rescue their best clothes for the Sunday. The money lenders' doors are never still. And the crowd in the street grows denser and noisier. The smell of it fills the soul with nausea.

A young man, with a child or two in his arms, comes out of a public house. His wife and a girl friend follow after him, mocking him for going home so early. The wife carries a baby of three or four months in her arms. In the middle of the road the girls begin to dance and sing. The husband turns round and laughs. The child in his arms, with dazed eyes, watches her mother singing and dancing. The dirty linen cap on the baby's head slips off as the mother whirls about, and we see the poor little bald head going round and round in the glare of the naphtha. How that tiny brain must swim! How it must wonder at the shrill laughter of its swaying mother! The baby is no larger than a skinned rabbit. Round and round, round and round, to the shrieked tune of "Sally, Sally, Was In the Ballet," while the husband stands grinning and the girl friend suddenly reels and goes down behind a barrow, chuckling and cursing—Detroit News.

"To the Lamppost."

"To the lamppost" is a mistranslation of "la lanterne!" There was no lamppost. The lamp was hung over the middle of the street, in the center of a cord, which passed over pulleys at the sides of the street. The lamp was let down, the person to be hanged was substituted for it, and the ends of the cord pulled.—London Notes and Queries.

TERRIBLE AND TRAGIC.

Night Watchman Meets Most Dreadful Fate.

SKULL CRUSHED LIKE EGG

While Man Named Zellner, Employed by the Dallas Gas Company, Was on Duty, He Was Fouly Murdered and His Pockets Rifled.

Dallas, Sept. 5.—With his skull caved in at the forehead as if it had been but an eggshell the body of M. H. Zellner was found at 7 o'clock Thursday morning near the corner of Fitzhugh street and Ross avenue, in the extreme eastern part of the city. One of the pockets of his pants had been turned inside out as if rifled, while the other had been cut open with a sharp bladed instrument and its contents taken. Near the corpse were two pieces of 2x4 wood, with blood on each, indicating the instruments of death.

Zellner, who was fifty-four years of age, was an employee of the Dallas Gas company in the capacity of watchman. The company is putting in a main near where the body was found and the dead man was on duty Wednesday night to see that nothing was stolen or tampered with. One of his duties was to see that lanterns over danger spots were not purloined.

Deceased apparently was lying on a pallet made of cement sacks when killed, as his body was found there. It was a terrible sight as Zellner lay with upturned face, staring eyes and blood oozing from his wounds.

An hour after the atrocious crime was known Chief of Police Brandenburg arrested three Mexicans. They had been at work at the place for the company, but failed to show up at the usual hour for labor Thursday.

SIX HOUSES BURN.

Dallas Was Without Water For Number of Hours.

Dallas, Sept. 5.—By a break in the principal water main of the Dallas waterworks, which occurred Wednesday afternoon and was not repaired until 11 o'clock Thursday morning, this city was placed in an alarming dilemma. No water could be secured during that time, and as there was no warning of the mishap nearly every residence was without the necessary fluid. Wells were brought into requisition and thousands of buckets of water were carried by householders.

Two fires happened Thursday morning. The first was a two-story residence in the northern part of the city. It was consumed. Fortunately, the structure was isolated; otherwise, all adjacent property could not have been saved.

Shortly before 6 o'clock fire broke out near the southeast corner of Live Oak and Olive streets. The flames totally destroyed the five houses from the corner of Olive on Live Oak to Pearl and one on Olive. Had there been an east wind several large board houses on Live Oak street between Olive and Pacific avenue would have been the flames' prey. It is probable the fire would have leaped over Pacific avenue and involved Elm street, taking in the Wilson building and other valuable property. As it was, there was hardly any breeze, so the fire confined itself to the block in which it originated.

Losses foot up $13,500, with about half insurance.

TO INSTITUTE SUIT.

Attorney General Is So Instructed by the Railroad Commission.

Austin, Sept. 5.—The railroad commission issued order directing attorney general to institute suit for penalties against the Galveston, Harrisburg and San Antonio railway for alleged violation of commission's order of Oct. 27, 1906, requiring the railroad to operate double daily passenger service between Del Rio and El Paso. The commission claims that without obtaining its approval the railroad company discontinued the operation of such double daily passenger service. The commission directs that the suit be filed in the district court at Victoria.

The governor appointed the following board of penal examiners: J. H. Grant, Palestine; Sam G. Duff, Greenville, and C. M. McCauley, Merkel.

International Harvester Concern Admits a Trust.

Penalty Is Assessed at Thirty-Five Thousand Dollars and Permit to Any Longer Do Business in the State of Texas to Be Revoked.

Austin, Sept. 5.—In the case of Texas vs. the International Harvester Company of America, a plea of guilty was entered and the state secured a judgment for $35,000 in penalties and a forfeiture of the concern's Texas permit, ousting it from the state. The most sweeping injunction was granted, enjoining the defendant forever from doing any further business in Texas except an interstate business; from entering into any exclusive contract with any person, firm or corporation in the state for the sale of its goods in Texas whereby any one concern would have the right to handle the goods exclusively, and is perpetually enjoined from organizing any other corporation to do business in the state or from acquiring or retaining any stock or interest, either directly or indirectly, in any corporation, firm or association of persons to do business in the state of Texas.

HAMP COOK BUSY.

Telling Eastern People What a Great State Texas Is.

Houston, Sept. 5.—Word was received here from Colonel Hamp Cook, the veteran Texas newspaper man, who was some months ago presented with a purse of $1,000 by the business men of Houston, indicating that he is putting in some good hard licks for Texas in New York and other cities of the east.

It is a well known fact that no one can get the best of Colonel Cook in an argument over Texas, and since his departure on his vacation he has fought many wordy battles, emerging from each in triumph, ready for the fray again when the next opportunity is offered.

Incidentally he has done a great deal to diminish the supply of literature, medallions and buttons in the Five Million club office, but these have been sent him without regret, knowing his capacity for "boosting."

How long Colonel Cook will remain away from the land of his youth is not known, but one thing is sure—as long as he stays, just so long will the great state of Texas have an able representative abroad.

The rear trucks of the last car became detached, turning crosswise, and caused the car to break loose. It was overturned and rolled down a ten-foot embankment. It was a Pullman car. There was great excitement on the train. Twenty-three persons were hurt, some seriously, but none killed.

FREELS' FRIGHTFUL FATE.

Denison Fireman Caught by Falling Wall and Crushed to Death.

Denison, Sept. 5.—The Lone Star laundry was destroyed by fire. Bud Freels, a minute man connected with the fire department, was caught under a falling wall and crushed to death. Another minute man, Alfred L. Smith, was slightly injured by the falling of the same wall.

After the fire was under control Freels and Smith were on the west side of the building playing a stream of water on the embers when, without warning, the wall crumbled and fell both ways. Freels was on the inside of the wall and was buried underneath the debris. The body was found under the pile of bricks after a search of half an hour by the other firemen. Freels was a single man.

The property loss is about $20,000.

BY CARNES & WALLACE

BRYAN, TEXAS, SEPT 6, 1907

The International Harvester Company has accepted judgment of ouster from Texas and agreed to pay a fine of $35,000.

The cow, the hog and the hen are a combination that cannot be beaten, and Brazos county is the natural home for all of the trio.

The late failure of Wall street to scare the country has proven that the time has passed when a few financiers could bring a "panic" at will.

The first annual exhibition of the Falls County Fair and Racing Association opened at Marlin Wednesday. The attendance was good and the exhibits were creditable.

It is announced that Hell's Half Acre in Ft. Worth is to be cleaned out, so if you smell anything peculiarly offensive don't attribute it to Eagle Pass onions or the sulphur spring at Lampasas.

The hardware merchants association is raising a fund to fight the pistol tax. The people of Texas believe that pistol toting is inexcusable and immoral, and if the fifty per cent tax law fails there is likely to be a demand for more drastic legislation, even to the extent of making pistol selling a felony, as it is in several states.

It is a well established fact a manufacturing country is usually a rich country. This being true, what may not be the prosperity of a country like Texas, which produces in great abundance, if it would manufacture its own products? Texas can grow fruits and can them; can grow meats and can pack them; it can grow its own cotton and spin it. Why not do it?—Galveston News.

A prominent educator of the South said in a lecture delivered a few weeks ago that the democracy of the public school is the finest training for a child that our country affords. He emphasized this idea by affirming that if he had the wealth of a Carnegie and could buy the services of the finest instructors the country affords, a child under his care should not be deprived of a public school education.

The majority of the people in Texas are heartily in favor of 2-cent railroad fare but such a law would operate to retard the development of the lines already built in Texas and would put a quietus on the construction of new lines. Texas is not yet ready for the reduction and The Inquirer is prepared to prove it.—Gonzales Inquirer.

Trot out your proof. But it won't do any good unless it is better than anything yet offered. There are a good many people in Texas who remember the howl that was raised when the Twentieth legislature reduced the fare to three cents.

There is every reason why Texas schools should not only be patronized by Texans, but the people of the North who wish to have their children educated in a delightful winter climate ought to send them to Texas.

The Bulletin hopes that the time will come when this will be largely done and if our colleges keep up the general improvement which has characterized them in the past decade, it will soon be regarded as the proper thing for the agents of Texas colleges to go north every summer soliciting patronage, just as the Northern schools have been having representatives in this state for many years. Already the schools compare favorably with any in the land in curriculum; they only fall short now in buildings and equipments and this is rapidly being overcome. Many thousands of dollars are being spent every year in Texas in college buildings and our institutions will soon compare favorably in every way with any in the land.—Brownwood Bulletin.

EDUCATIONAL DIVIDENDS.
The Eagle has often had occasion to comment on the great and increasing demand for engineers, skilled artisans and scientific agriculturists and the following regarding the A. and M. College, from the Galveston News, is to the point:

The demand for civil engineering graduates from the college continues to exceed the supply. Of the twenty graduates and three post-graduates who finished their work here last June, all are engaged in civil engineering work at salaries ranging from $125 per month down to $50 and $60. Many of the undergraduates have also been engaged in engineering work during the summer, but there are still numerous requests for men now on file in the department, but there is not an available man for any of the places.

The introduction of agriculture as a subject of instruction in the public schools is greatly increasing the demand for the services of graduates of the Agricultural and Mechanical College. The numerous requests that are constantly coming in for teachers of agriculture can not be complied with by the college authorities, because the supply of available men has long since been exhausted. Every graduate in the horticultural department of last year's class already has a good position, the average salary of the members of the class being $1,200 a year. Prof. Kyle is a very enthusiastic worker and takes great pride in securing good positions for his graduates, and for his undergraduates summer work as is best suited to their training. The special summer work, however, could not be given this season on account of the failure of the fruit crop of the state. A few students worked for Mr. J. S. Kerr, manager of the Texas Nursery Company at Sherman. Two were employed by a large Arkansas fruit company to superintend the picking and packing of fruit. This company was well pleased with the work of the boys that it has already arranged with them to prune its entire orchard this winter. If the fruit crop is good next season, twenty-five or thirty students will do summer work. They will be employed in some of the largest orchards in Texas until about the 20th of July, and then they will go to Arkansas and Missouri. After the crop is harvested in these states, the workers will divide, some going to Colorado and others to New York to remain until school opens in the fall. Such work, besides being remunerative, affords invaluable experience to the students. A large fruit company in Arkansas is desirous of making a contract to have the entire crop from three hundred trees gathered every season by A. and M. students.

H. & T. C. OFFICIALS HERE.

Representatives of the Traffic and Operating Departments Visited the Local Compress Yesterday.

A party of Houston & Texas Central railroad officials of the traffic and operating departments passed through the city yesterday on a northbound special train, and spent a half hour at the Bryan compress in consultation with Manager W. Wipprecht. They are making a trip over the entire line to consult with the compress people with reference to loading cars in such a way as to secure the greatest tonnage, and especially to facilitate the handling of mixed lots at the seaboard in Galveston. Mr. Sheehan said they were finding the compress people willing to meet them more than half way in the matter. He took occasion to compliment the management of the local compress on having uniformly handled cotton to the best advantage.

The members of the visiting party are General Superintendent G. Radetsky, Division Superintendent M. Sheehan, General Freight Agent J. A. Christian, A. A. Martin, assistant, and E. R. Nichols agent at Galveston. Agent W. S. Wilson of this city made the rounds with the party.

SNAKES ROUT CHOPPERS.

Men Cannot Be Induced to Load Thousands of Crossties.

Meriden, Conn., Sept. 5.—Woodchoppers employed by A. R. Johnson, who has a portable sawmill in Dark Hollow, a wild section of the town of Glastonbury, quit work for fear of rattlesnakes. Several thousand railroad ties are piled up in the woods ready for shipment, but Johnson cannot get men to load them.

For some time non-poisonous snakes have appeared in large numbers as a result of the drought, but it was not until this week that the rattle snakes were seen.

After several exciting encounters with the reptiles the woodchoppers left the hollow.

BARBER MISUNDERSTOOD.

Thought Customer, Who Slumbered, Wanted Whiskers Cut Off.

Parksville, N. Y., Sept. 5.—George Palmer, a wealthy farmer residing near here, has brought suit for $2,000 damages in the supreme court against John H. Reisler, a barber of New York City. Palmer's grievance is that his beard, of which he was quite proud, was cut off by one of Reisler's employees.

Palmer fell asleep in the barber's chair, he says, after having told the man simply to trim his whiskers, but the barber sheared off all the whiskers and shaved his face. The application of a wet towel on Palmer's face awoke him, and when he realized that his beard was gone he sought a lawyer and had suit brought at once.

TWO ARRESTS MADE.

One Young Man Alleged to Be Principal, Another Accesory.

Ardmore, Sept. 5.—In connection with the shooting of Miss Bobbie Weir, the eighteen-year-old girl who was discovered in a dying condition by neighbors, who expired shortly after being shot, Federal officials have placed under arrest Bert Joiner, son of a prominent citizen of Ardmore, who is being held on a charge of murder, and Lawrence Musgraves, a companion of Joiner, who, it is alleged, was near the scene of the tragedy. The latter is charged with being an accessory.

HORSE KILLS CHILD.

Child Thrown, Dragged One Hundred Yards and Trampled.

PRAYER FOR SCHOOLS.

Churches All Over America Will Do Tis on Sunday Next.

New York, Sept. 5.—Next Sunday is to be observed by churches throughout the country as a day of special prayer for the public schools. The plan was suggested by the National Reform Association, and has been endorsed by the Presbyterian general assembly and other church conventions.

The fall term of the public schools begins on the day following in New York and many other parts of the country.

PRICES FIXED.

Farmers' Union Does Work of Much Importance.

Little Rock, Sept. 5.—The Farmers' National Co-operative and Educational Union fixed the minimum price for middling cotton at 15 cents a pound.

In addition, the price is to advance a quarter of a cent each month, which will make January cotton 16 cents.

The price of long staple will range from 27 cents to 45 cents per pound.

The price of No. 2 wheat is to be $1.50 per bushel; corn, 50 cents; rye, $1; barley, $1.50, and oats, 35 cents.

Only in the price of middling cotton was a sliding scale arranged.

The convention also passed a strong resolution against foreign immigration.

It was declared that many undesirable persons are coming to the United States. The union pledges itself to urge congress and state legislatures to pass such laws "as will put a speedy end to other nations using us as a dumping ground to an undesirable class of people."

By unanimous vote old officers were re-elected.

New York, Sept. 5.—Just because she went stockingless and wore a thin purple gown and sandals—and that's about all—Miss Eva Palmer, slim and pretty, caused some gossip abroad the French liner La Lorraine which arrived at this port from Havre. She has recently been at Paris, where some folks are unconventional, and she dropped into the mode of the unpopular there by appearing in public in sandals, just as the ancient Greeks and Romans did, who, Miss Palmer surmises, knew a thing or two, before the invention of high-heeled shoes and corsets.

But Miss Palmer does not confine her innovation, which she calls merely a

Heart Strength

Heart Strength, or Heart Weakness, means Nerve Strength, or Nerve Weakness—nothing more. Positively, not one weak heart in a hundred is, in itself, really diseased. It is almost always a hidden tiny little nerve that really is at fault. This obscure nerve, the Cardiac, or Heart Nerve—simply needs, and requires, more power, more stability, more controlling, more governing strength. Without that the Heart must continue to fail, and the stomach and kidneys also have to fail, and the same controlling nerves also have to fail.

This clearly explains why, as a medicine, Dr. Shoop's Restorative has been past done so much for weak and failing Hearts. Dr. Shoop first sought the cause of all this painful, palpitating, suffocating heart distress. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a popular prescription—is alone selected from these weak and wasting nerve centers. It builds; if strength fails, it offers real genuine heart help. If you would have strong Hearts, strong digestion, strengthen these nerves—re-establish them as needed, with Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not, in itself a true disease. We think of Dyspepsia, Heartburn, and Indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of certain specific Nerve troubles—nothing else.

It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop in the creation of that now very popular Stomach Remedy—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. GRAHAM GONE.

Dispatch Bearer and Courier to General Sheridan.

Chester, Pa., Sept. 5.—Monroe Graham, who was a dispatch bearer and courier in the civil war, and who rode with General Sheridan during his famous ride of twenty miles from Winchester, died at his home in Village Green.

Mr. Graham frequently gave at Grand Army gatherings a version of the part he played when he acted in the capacity of dispatch bearer. The troops, he said, were stationed twenty miles from Winchester, at which place Sheridan was in conference with other army officers as to his future plans. An attack occurred, and Sheridan was needed at the front. Graham volunteered to ride to Sheridan and return with him while the battle was in progress. Graham started on his ride to notify Sheridan, and before he reached him the cannonading could be heard.

"Quick!" shouted Graham as he handed the dispatch to General Sheridan, who was taken by surprise at the sudden appearance of the courier. Notwithstanding the fact that an important consultation was being held, Sheridan immediately mounted his famous black horse and, accompanied by Graham, proceeded on his ride.

Graham was at the side of General Sheridan until the troops were reached.

TO BUILD HOME.

National Association of Letter Carriers May Do This.

Canton, O., Sept. 5.—The National Association of Letter Carriers convened here in the sixteenth annual session, all sections of the country being represented among the delegates present. Officials report a present membership of 20,740, an increase in the last year of 3,220. Among the important matters to be considered is the building of a home for aged and incapacitated letter carriers at Colorado Springs, Colo.

A pension system will also be devised for retiring carriers with a sufficient income to support them in their declining years after they have been turned adrift by the government on account of ill health or old age. It is also proposed to raise the sick benefit to $10 per week.

First Assistant Postmaster General Hitchcock, who is a great favorite among the letter carriers, will deliver the principal address.

If This Shooting Game Is a Success, Then to the Funeral.

Pittsburg, Sept. 5.—A remarkable will was filed for probate here. It was in the form of a letter written by John Kelly, a tombstone maker, who, on Aug. 1, killed himself. He left a letter to his relatives which starts thus:

"If this shooting game is a success, then to the funeral. Flannery is a good undertaker. Proceedings as ordinary."

Kelly then divides an estate valued at $2,500 among his stepmother, brothers and sisters. The whole of the letter was filed as his will.

DEED DONE DRUNK.

While Intoxicated Baltimore Boy Beats His Mother.

Baltimore, Sept. 5.—How a helpless woman—scarcely out of a hospital where she was an invalid for two weeks—was beaten by her eldest son is the story told on the terse record of the Western police station. Elmer Jones, as tallwart youth of nineteen years, is locked up, charged with having beaten his mother, Mrs. Mary A. Jones.

That the delicate woman was saved from worse treatment by the son she was ready to forgive while the sting of the blows was still on her face and arms is due to the interference of Captain George Henry, who happened to be passing the Jones house, 125 Pearl street. Hearing a woman's scream, he rushed into the house, and says he found the mother at the mercy of her son. The youth desisted when he saw the captain, who arrested him.

The assault is the outcome of a series of persecutions which the mother alleges have followed her. With a bare pittance, received as weekly alimony from her husband, she declares that she has had to make every effort to keep from starvation. By taking boarders she has managed to support herself and two children, the oldest child, Elmer, who is under arrest, supporting himself as a fish huckster.

For awhile, she declared, the youth contributed generously to the support of the family, but afterward fell into evil habits and remained away from home for five weeks. Several days ago he returned. In her absence, she asserts, and took the clock from the parlor, which was afterwards recovered from a pawn shop. From youths who live in the neighborhood she heard that he had been living at 607 West Lexington street. While at home, with her two babies, Elmer came to the home. Angry, at first, she ordered him to leave. He refused, and, it alleged, deaf to her pleadings for her children, seized her by the throat and beat her to $10 per week.

When he was taken from the home by Captain Henry the mother's love asserted itself.

"William is a good boy," she said, "if he would only leave drink and bad company alone. I don't think he knew what he was doing," she sobbed, instinctively pressing her younger infant closer to her breast.

LONDON'S EAST SIDE.

Fearful Picture of Poverty and Dissipation.

A SATURDAY NIGHT SCENE.

The Awful Spectacle That a Bitterly Cold Evening In Winter Disclosed to the Wayfarer in the Streets—The Hucksters and Their Customers.

Let me show you something which is more terrible than tragedy and more hideous than vice. It is a close wedge procession of thousands of happy but shabby men and women and children passing at a crawl between shop windows and costermongers' barrows on a Saturday night in winter in southeast London. The wind from the Thames blows bitter and thinner the fumes and naphtha lamps and makes them tug and hiss at the greasy burners. It is bitterly cold. Women draw their gray shawls closer over their heads; men turn up their coat collars, hump their shoulders and thrust their hands deeper in their pockets, and the blue faced children, squeezed between the legs of the crawling multitude, shiver and snuffle as they creep slowly forward with chattering teeth and purple lips, which twitch and shudder, half from cold and half from hunger.

Look at some of the faces. The women have their hair dragged back from their foreheads. The eyes are hardly visible. The noses are short and broad. The blubber lips reach across their swollen faces. The men have shifty eyes. Their underjaws project. There is nothing in their faces which suggests dignity or kindness. On all the faces you read satisfaction and content. Even the starving children peep about with excitement.

On the top rail of a stall, stuck upon hooks and just high enough to grin above the multitude, are the heads of two sucking pigs. The eyes are half open and wear a glassy smile. Round the rim of the ears and at the edge of the open grinning lips is a line of blood. They seem to hang there like the presiding deities of the market, the gods of this sordid festival.

Butchers stand before their open windows, calling loudly and briefly for customers and reaching down joints of meat from steel hooks, which they dangle to a man inside to be weighed. Children, bareheaded and in rags, thrust themselves among the crowd, offering beet roots on pieces of dirty newspaper. The street is filled with cries. There is a smell of fish and fusty garments. Into our faces as we go toward foul, fat women with coarse voices shove handfuls of animal matter—things all bloody and dreadful—and tell us that the cost is only two pence. At another barrow an old woman and her three daughters are selling for pennies, twopences, threepences and fourpences the loathsome oddments from their rag shop. Blouses, stays, petticoats, nightdresses, trousers, waistcoats and caps—all of them so sodden and musty that we doubt if they would burn—are snatched up from the wide stall, flourished in the light of the naphtha lamps and flung across to the highest bidder for a few copper.

And, while this marketing is going on and while the air is filled with the hoarse shouts of the hucksters, out from the public houses, like bees dislodged from a swarm, drop men and women, many of them carrying babies in their arms, and slouch away into the darkness of some neighboring court. The gin shops are crammed with men, women and children. The more careful housewives are fingerling bits of meat scarce fit for dogs and hauling the stiffs till they have collected enough for Sunday's dinner, but when this is done they, too, fight their way into the gin shops and drink till closing time. In and out of the pawnbrokers' shops pass the mothers who wish to rescue their best clothes for the Sunday. The money lenders' doors are never still. And the crowd in the street grows denser and noisier. The smell of it fills the soul with nausea.

A young man, with a child or two in his arms, comes out of a public house. His wife and a girl friend follow after him, mocking him for going home so early. The wife carries a baby of three or four months in her arms. In the middle of the road the girls begin to dance and sing. The husband turns round and laughs. The child in his arms, with dazed eyes, watches her mother singing and dancing. The dirty linen cap on the baby's head slips off as the mother whirls about, and we see the poor little bald head going round and round in the glare of the naphtha. How that tiny brain must swim! How it must wonder at the shrill laughter of its swaying mother! The baby is no larger than a skinned rabbit. Round and round, round and round, to the shrieked tune of "Sally, Sally, Was in the Ballet," while the husband stands grinning and the girl friend suddenly reels and goes down behind a barrow, chuckling and cursing—Detroit News.

To the Lamppost.

"To the lamppost" is a misnomeration of "a la lanterne!" There was no lamppost. The lamp was hung over the middle of the street, in the center of a cord, which passed over pulleys at the sides of the street. The lamp was let down, the person to be hanged was substituted for it, and the ends of the cord pulled.—London Notes and Queries.
